Viet Protests Deported In Three-Pronged Attack

The Viet Nam Day Committee demonstrations tomorrow and Saturday were decried on three fronts today.

Rolf K. Jensen, president of the Oakland Junior Chamber of Commerce, called them a publicity stunt staged by a handful of wide-eyed students encouraged by a "pack of professional agitators."

He said, "Student demonstrations against U.S. policy in Viet Nam, scheduled for this weekend, are nothing more than a brainstorm of the radical Viet Nam Day Committee of Berkeley and do not reflect the attitude of the young people of this nation."

But, Jensen said, "Disorder and crime make news while good citizenship does not, so these demonstrations fulfill their purpose, feeding fuel to the propaganda furnaces of Communist nations."

The Jaycee head said a recent referendum taken by the 261,000-member national organization indicates that young people favor a "stay-tough" policy in Viet Nam.

Jaycees supported the administration's policy by a 10-to-1 ratio, he said.

"While those who cry and picket for U.S. withdrawal from Viet Nam are either ineligible for military service or are of the type to dodge the draft," Jensen said, "more than 90 per cent of all Jaycee members are eligible for recall in case of emergency."

On another front, John Broome, Oakland, a spokesman for Responsible Citizens Aroused, called on the public to shun the VDC march and demonstrations.

He announced a "town meeting" will be held by the RCA at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Oakland Auditorium Theater. He said speakers will include representatives of the national administration, including the Central Intelligence Agency.

Tom Huston, Washington, D.C., national chairman of Young Americans for Freedom, arrived in the Bay Area to speak at three college rallies in support of U.S. military action in Viet Nam.

Jack Cox, California state chairman of the YAF, said Huston's appearances will come in observance of the YAF-sponsored "Days of Freedom," designed to counter the VDC's "Days of Protest."

Huston, who recently returned from a tour of South Viet Nam, was scheduled to speak on the steps of Sproul Hall at the University of California today and at noon tomorrow at San Francisco State College. He also will speak at San Jose State College and in Los Angeles and San Diego.
